05 · FULFILMENT

Good enough shipped beats great unshipped. Don't build anything without first validating profitability.

THE FLOOR – CLEAR IT AND STOP

One objective	In a single sentence
Three to five key points	No more
One exercise	Something they actually do
One action	What they leave with

THAT IS A COACHING SESSION

It can be delivered from one page of notes. Slides are optional — some of the best sessions you will run are a worksheet and a conversation.

THE INSTINCT TO WATCH

The urge to add one more thing, and then one more, until it is good enough to show someone. That instinct is the most expensive thing you will bring to this program. Good enough shipped beats great unshipped.

WHAT WE ARE NOT DOING

Building sessions two through eight. Those get made one to two weeks ahead, once you have a real person in front of you — and they will be better for it.

WHY BUILD IT BEFORE SELLING

It makes you sound different on a call — describing something that exists rather than something you intend. And it settles the fear that somebody says yes and you have nothing to give them.

REFINEMENT COMES FROM CLIENTS

Not from impulse. You will improve this after you have delivered it, based on what actually landed — never before, based on how it feels.
