

MINDSET · REMINDERS

Mindset Reminders

Six shifts to read before you build — and to return to when the old story gets loud. Not affirmations; truer sentences to reason from.

01

GROWTH

What I can't do yet, I can become good at. Skill is built through repetition — not handed to me at the start.

02

LEGITIMACY

I don't have to earn the right to help outside the therapy room. The instinct that makes me a good clinician is the same one that makes me a good coach.

03

ABUNDANCE

There is far more demand for real change than I could ever meet. Choosing a niche doesn't shrink the opportunity — it concentrates it.

04

MONEY

Money is neutral — a measure of value exchanged, nothing more. Charging well for real change is what makes the work sustainable, not what makes it greedy.

05

PRICING

When I price for the outcome instead of the hour, my income is no longer capped by my calendar.

06

FEEDBACK

The market is information, not a verdict. An offer that doesn't land is data about what people need — not a judgment on my worth. I adjust, and go again.

